JAMES WOODFORD, R.A. works on a model of the Lion of England which will adorn the Royal entrance of the annex of Westminster Abbey for the Coronation. It is one of the ten "Queen's Beasts" taken from heraldic devices used by Her Majesty's ancestors and will be part of the decorative scheme on the annex. The lion wears the authentic "Terrestrial Livestock."

New Canadian Stamps

These new issues of Canadian stamps will go on sale April 1st. Designs for two of the stamps—a four-cent bighorn sheep and a three-cent moose—were created by Ronald Hahn, Toronto sculptor. The two-cent stamp depicting a polar bear is the work of John Crosby, an artist attached to the National Museum in Ottawa.

Free Tuberculosis X-Ray on Feb. 23

When the government-sponsored chest x-ray clinic arrives in LaSalle on February 23, take advantage of the chance to obtain a free x-ray examination for the dread tuberculosis disease — you owe it to yourself and to your community to protect yourself and others from unsuspected TB.

The mobile clinic is to set up for a one-day stand at the LaSalle Town Hall, between the hours of 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Monday, February 23.

Tuberculosis can be cured in a short time if detected in its early stages, and this check can only be made by chest x-ray. Early tuberculosis is curable, but gives no warning. When symptoms of TB appear they are not symptoms of the early-type disease.

While some think the disease is hereditary, this is not so. TB is caused by a germ and strikes anyone young or old, without warning. It is highly contagious and if not checked early, kills more people than all other communicable diseases combined. It is most imperative, then, that everyone in this community take advantage of this opportunity for a thorough diagnosis. Attendance is not compulsory, but good common sense and duty to your Community should ensure your presence at the clinic on Monday.

The x-ray is absolutely painless and takes less than 30 seconds. It does not require the removal of clothing. Ties, pins, brooches and similar objects that would appear on the x-ray are the only objects to be removed from a person's clothing while the examination is being taken. Windsor and district has the lowest rate of tuberculosis cases of any major Ontario community. The Essex Health Association and the Windsor Junior Chamber of Commerce, joint sponsors of the survey conducted by the Ontario Department of Health, urge everyone to take advantage of this chance to learn the true condition of their health and the health of their family.

Canvassers have been calling at most homes with an appointment card to be taken to the clinic at the town hall. If, however, you have not received an appointment card, you may still come to the clinic where an attendant will provide you with a card.

In a circular distributed by canvassers, it was outlined in detail the procedure followed should any abnormal case appear. If the film is normal, no report is sent. If the film shows abnormality which is definitely non-tuberculous, the clinic will notify you and a report will be sent to your family physician. If the film shows shadowing which might represent TB, you will be asked to return for a further examination by a chest specialist and for further full size films. There is no charge for this additional service. The examiner will discuss any abnormal condition with you and will send a full report to your family doctor.

If the examination shows that treatment for tuberculosis is required, arrangements are made with the patient for admission to a sanatorium.

If a person is admitted to a sanatorium and cannot contribute funds for his expense there, provision is made by the Department of Health for the treatment free of charge.

The current x-ray survey, is sponsored by the Ontario Department of Health in co-operation with the local unit of the Ontario Tuberculosis Association. The O.T.A. district unit is supported in its work through the sale of Christmas Seals.

Make certain that you don't miss your opportunity to receive this free x-ray — a regular chest x-ray examination is TB's most deadly foe. Let chest x-ray say you're O.K.

Our Free Press Owes
Much to Linotype Machine

Ottmar Mergenthaler's Linotype machine, christened in the offices of the New York Tribune on July 3, 1886, was "the most potent machine of its age." The new machine touched off a boom in printing, created 100's of industries and millions of jobs, greatly enlarged daily newspapers while lowering their cost, made possible the printing of more magazines and books of many kinds. Because of the Linotype, libraries multiplied in number and size, and in a single generation the level of literacy advanced by a full century.

The Linotype made a metal slug that would print simultaneously several words in a line of type the width of a newspaper column. Previously, words and sentences had been formed laboriously by men who picked up the letters one at a time from type cases.

For some time after its first use, however, the machine seemed headed for failure for it was too costly for any but the largest publishers. Then the idea of leasing Linotypes was proposed. Small publishers could meet the rental terms; soon scores of small-town newspapers appeared. By the year 1900 there were 8,000 Linotypes in use.

In thus making modern printing possible, Mergenthaler succeeded where many other inventors had failed. He knew nothing of printing, therefore "his prime advantage was an open mind - he had nothing to forget."

Though he died in 1899 at the age of 45, his machine paid him, and his heirs about $1,500,000.

Without the loss of a single life, and at the cost of about 4 cents an acre, "the greatest territorial advance ever made by any nation" was effected.

In 1902, a New York toymaker asked President Teddy Roosevelt if he would lend his name to a "cuddly, fuzzy, newly inspired toy bear." TR consented but asked, "I don't think my name's worth much in the bear business." With 150 million Teddy Bears now made yearly, "the royalties which might have accrued to a less modest man would have been astronomical."

Little Known Facts

Every 15 minutes an amateur or professional inventor thinks up something that eventually will be patented. Although some 90-000 trained technicians in research laboratories are constantly looking for patentable ideas, about half of all patents go to garage - and - basement amateur inventors.

One of the Vitagraph Corporation's early movies, way back in the days when you were young,
did a total production cost of $3.50, exclusive of film.
The picture, called "Burglar on the Roof", paid one actor $2
to play the part of policeman;
the rental of the cop's complete outfit came to $1.50.

If you think that overweight is a condition afflicting chiefly the high-income groups, you're wrong. Dr. Howard A. Kusk says that examinations of 5,000
employees of one industrial firm revealed the same ratio of overweight for executives and non-executives — one in every four.

On the better living standards of today the worker is as likely to 'dig his grav ewith his teeth'
as is his boss.
